These transition measures are only for those students who during academic year 2014-2015 (and in earlier years) were enrolled in the Master of Management program and who want to re-enroll for 2016-2017.

Master Program Management

The master program remains 60 ects, but the course of Operations Management and Logistics will be replaced by the new course of Supply Chain Management. New students and students of academic year 2014-2015 who didn’t succeed for Operations Management and Logistics, will have to follow the new course of Supply Chain Management.

An overview:

- Those students who didn’t succeed for Operations Management and Logistics in 2014-2015 (6 ects) => Supply Chain Management (6SP) in 2016-2017

- Those students who succeeded for Operations Management and Logistics in 2014-2015 don’t have to register for the new course of Supply Chain Management in 2016-2017. Their credit for Operations Management and Logistics remains valid

- All other courses remain the same.
